DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION AT WORKPLACE

DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION AT WORKPLACE

Single-culture workplace seems not to exist any more in modern and open societies. Even within a single nationality, there are multiple cultures that meet at points and diverge at others.

Our workplace is where we spend most of our day, and hence a better understanding of diversity and inclusion is a must for all management levels and for individual staff members to ensure harmony and cooperation, something which reflects positively on the business's performance and individuals' satisfaction.

The mentor will

- meet you at your workplace to understand its nature
- set goals with the HR and/or other top management level individuals
- sketch a plan for a workshop that is tailor-made for your workplace and your staff
- conduct the workshop in-house.
